EDITORIAL

I used to say I regret nothing in life. Looking back though, I guess my one regret would be not doing this issue with incognito mode on.

I don't really know how this month's theme came about to be honest, like much of this past year, it was a bit of a blur. Life just kinda seems to be moving along around me while I sit here pretending I don't have 3 midterms to write today.

Anyways, Furries.

The whole idea of furries kind of seems innocent at first: people who like dressing up as animals. That doesn't sound too weird, right? Halloween is a thing, same with sports mascots. Unfortunately, this was all ruined

WRITE-ATORIAL

Hello Toikeians, and welcome to Furry Toike.

Deviating from the general nature of the writeatorial, I refuse to talk about the issue because I think it is quite self explanatory. Essentially, what has happened is that the exec team has successfully descended into madness - I know it is bold of me to assume we weren't already there but, trust me this is just a different level altogether. The only thing to come out of this month except a Toike issue, is a petition from me to EngSoc asking for therapy sessions.

Moving on to greener pastures, how is reading week treating you? Sleeping 15 hours straight? Accepting the omnipresent sense of doom that surrounds me? Wondering what would have happened if you actually had money to invest into GameStop and not just a paper trading account cause you could have made millions from the 10,000 you put in a few months ago? NOT preparing for by none other than the internet. Is anyone surprised though? The internet seems to ruin everything nowadays. Shockingly though, the fandom seems to date back before that, as early as the 1970s or even 60s.

As a side note, I'm shocked that people find those costumes comfortable in the slightest. I've seen people dressed as mascots the midterms that will probably be the cause of our untimely demise? Yeah... that sounds about right.

Well, I think that's all for now. Stay hydrated (writing this while drinking my one sip of water for the day), hope and pray to all that is good that school opens in-person next semester and read the Toike! Please. We spend way too much time in review.

in suits like that, and they were absolutely dripping with sweat after so much as a brisk walk, nevertheless being at a hot convention hall all day. Given the sexual nature of this fandom... I'll spare you the mental image.

Anywho, hope you enjoy!

COLOPHON

Each month, the staff of The Toike Oike gather at nonspecific points within their own homes. They all sit at their desks, open Zoom, and listen to the editor angrily rant about God knows what. The team sits and takes notes on his mindless droning, converting the nonsense of a sad old man going insane in quarantine into the Toike you see before you.

WHAT HO?

The Toike Oike is a subculture interested in anthropomorphic animal characters with human personalities and characteristics. Examples of anthropomorphic attributes include exhibiting human intelligence and facial expressions, speaking, walking on two legs, and wearing clothes. The term "Toike Oike" is also used to refer to the community of people who gather on the internet and at idea meetings.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor-in-Chief, we drove past.

I recently learned the theme of this issue is about "Furries."

Last year, they even held an event known as a "Furry-con" at the local convention centre! Hundreds of people, all dressed up as animals of sorts, all descended on our small town. Unfortunately, this convention hall was on the same route our family drives to church on Sunday, so you can imagine the surprise we felt as

My children are now asking all sorts of questions about this, such as "Why are they dressed like that? It's not Halloween." Or "What's with all the colours?" And I really have no answer for them. My son even brought it up at his youth group last week, where he mentioned he might want a costume like that! Does he realize what he's saying!?

I've tried reaching out to both the police and city council, to no avail. They said there's nothing "illegal" about what they're doing. Haven't they heard of indecent exposure? No there wasn't anything actually showing, but won't somebody think of the children?!

So, my question to you sir, is how can I prevent my children's virgin eyes to falling to the temptations of such heinous things?

Sincerely,
A Concerned Parent

BEASTARS IS THE BEST ANIME, SCREW YOU ATTACK ON TITAN FANS

Sigfried and Freud
Toike-Affiliated Leading Psychologists

I mean, come on, 44% of furries consider themselves to be anime fans - a web was bound to come out from the lurking shadows of degeneracy for this issue. But this is an absolutely serious topic. Ever since (spoiler alert) Eren went on a chomp rampage, the anime community has somehow forgotten their true origins of furry-hood. Suddenly, we all forgot about Legosi and Louis and god, Tem. How could we forget Tem. Such a sweet alpaca, gone too soon. So young and, in the immortal words of our favorite male wolf, so "soft."

To catch all you traitors up to speed, here's the rundown: Beastars is an adult Zootopia, with ye good ole cultural divide between carnivores (who are seen as lusty kinksters) and herbivores (closeted lusty kinksters). The story is set in a high school, and follows the life of a young wolf named Legosi. His innocent high school life is shaken when a fellow member of the drama club and alpaca, whose president is an alpha male deer (daddy), gets brutally murdered (the alpaca, not the deer). This murder sets a tone of distrust from herbivores to carnivores, and Legosi, soft boi supreme, is caught in the middle of a moral crisis: should he side with his kind, or stand up to defend the weak? Thankfully this moral dilemma is quickly resolved when he meets an upper year tittyful bunny, Haru, who is seemingly not afraid of him, despite the fact he secretly tried to eat her in a lust-predatory craze and she is very much afraid of this pubescent wolf who is twice her size.

6) Tackles the wolf-bunny stereotypes and dynamics, but makes it kinky.

7) Character development! Lots of it. Especially for socially anxious sinnamon roll Legosi. What a guy, what a wolf.

8) Like, okay, did you not wonder how carnivores ate meat in Zootopia? How a seemingly peaceful and cute society truly functions? Two words: Black Market, baby. From deer meat trade to herbivores selling their bodies in every way to survive, this is a touching narrative on survival and the moral ambiguities of how much you're willing to risk for a chance at true freedom.

9) It's called Beastars. Come on. They're stars. Idols, if you will.

Does any other anime - nay, cinematic piece offer this amount of versatility, of depth, of pure unadulterated shameless furry kink? Is anything as unabashedly proud to say, yes, I am a furry and yes, I am aroused by the sight of a 3 ft tall bunny? This brazen confidence alone is enough to make Beastars rise to the very top. Yet, it doesn't stop there. Offering you a vast variety of characters, of psychologies and of intricate relationships, this anime will have you weeping, laughing and well, feeling LOTS of things. Can any other claim to invoke such range of emotion from the viewer? No. I didn't think so. So screw you, Attack on Titan fans. And any other fans, too.

Dear Concerned Parent,

What your children are feeling is only natural! A child's curiosity is critical in their development as people. Of course, I can imagine your shock at what's going on, and the urge to want to protect your kids. I can make a few recommendations for you, and hopefully answer a few of their questions.

Firstly, I would avoid any house pets, whether your own or otherwise. You don't want your kids getting any ideas from them. This means avoiding family or friends who have pets, trying to prevent any embarrassment to your family. If you have a pet yourself, I'm sorry to say this might be goodbye. As well, this goes double for the zoo or aquarium, so on your next trip to Disney World, you're going to be missing out on Animal Kingdom. These places could fill your child's mind with all sorts of foul ideas involving animals.

Similarly, you would be wise to avoid any sort of event that might suggest to them that dressing up is fun or interesting. You mentioned Halloween in your letter, and I think it would serve you well to avoid these festivities in the future. I'm sure your kids will be disappointed, but they'll thank you in the future for preventing them from straying to those wicked ways I'm sure.

My final advice for you, is to monitor the digital content your kids are enjoying. There are a number of television programs and movies you should be aware of. Shows involving animals, like "Paw Patrol" or "Dog with a Blog" are certainly ones to avoid, and movies like "Beauty and the Beast" portray a woman in love with an animalistic beast. I'm shocked at what they'll allow on the air nowadays. Actually, it might just be best if you keep them off TV and the internet altogether.

In summary, simply shelter them as much as possible from the outside world, there's absolutely no way that could fail and breed resentment towards you in that way.

Hope this helps!

Sincerely,
Parker

TOIKE TAKE - TORONTO'S WORST

Seamane Activenails

Toike Glory Hole Explorer

This column features the 3 worst people, places or things (Nouns, for those of you who failed grade four) in Toronto this month, personal bias definitely included.

3. Toronto Housing Market

- It's a great time to rent in Toronto (if you are affluent). Now is perfect to switch to a new rental contact because rent prices are really low right now due to Covid-19 (only if you are of means). Everyone (who is well-off) should be taking advantage of the first rental decline in Toronto in almost 10 years, I can't believe how lucky we (my daddy owns two summer homes in the Hamptons) are!

2. Comicon 2021

- Due to Covid-19, Toronto Comicon has made the difficult decision to cancel Comicon 2021. The three-day weekend event is a spectacular exhibition of creativity, fan devotion and spirit.

However there has been no word on Furcon 2021 and I'd really like to know more information about that please. I need to know whether or not to order custom neon wolf elf ears so any information about Furcon 2021 status is appreciated thanks.

1. Cookie Monster Pyjama Pants

- Oh, how we revere thou; wearer of the pants, fearer of none. Patron saint of skipping class in high school. Who are we to question if cigarettes from a bag are safe, for our follies compare not to your infinite sage. Questionable hair dye knows not the victory over your self-esteem, just as your parents know not of your whereabouts at all times. Teach us the way of the Cookie Monster Pyjama Pants, and we the masses will teach you basic math and also how to be a little bit quieter indoors.

Honorable mention: Watch me whip/ nae nae - Remember that song? lol so stupid.

Quiz: What's Your Patronus Fursona Inner Animal?

1) What's your astrological sign?

- A) Aries, Taurus
- B) Gemini, Cancer
- C) Leo, Virgo
- D) Libra, Scorpio
- E) Sagittarius, Capricorn
- F) Aquarius, Pisces

2) What's your preferred living environment?

- A) As long as I have plenty of open space, I'm good.
- B) I'm most comfortable in small, enclosed spaces. I travel light.
- C) I like it hot. When you're all sweaty. And sticky. Yeah.
- D) I don't give a fuck about climate or space, as long as I get some peace and quiet.
- E) I like it cold. No, not a "cool summer breeze". Like...REALLY COLD.
- F) I like it wet and rainy. Warm rain. Cool rain. It's all good. As long as it's raining.

3) What time do you typically wake up in the morning?

- A) I wake up bright and early. I like to watch the sunrise.
- B) I wake up every couple of hours to make sure no one's stealing from me. Is that normal?
- C) I sleep pretty late into the day. And then there's my mid-afternoon nap.
- D) I sleep during the day so I can avoid all those other people.
- E) What the fuck kind of question is that? I wake up in the fucking morning, you idiot.
- F) I never really go to sleep. Gotta keep moving.

4) What's your favourite food?

- A) I'm a big fan of the grass, if you know what I mean.
- B) I ate my twin in utero, does that count?
- C) I eat whatever the fuck I want. I'll eat you. NO, NOT LIKE THAT!
- D) I will literally eat anything. Why? DO YOU HAVE FOOD?
- E) If it's flesh and it's been kissed by fire, I'll eat it.
- F) I guess I'd have to say sushi. But I love all seafood.

RESULTS

Mostly A: BULL - You seem pretty well-adjusted. Well, for a...you-know. You're stable, dependable and, honestly, a little boring. But, like, in a good way. Congratulations, you're the noble bull, nature's ultimate giver!

Mostly B: TURTLE - You look out for yourself. If you don't, who will, right? You keep your walls up because you've been hurt too many times. Maybe one day, you'll find someone to bring you out of your shell. Congratulations, you're the invincible turtle, God's perfect sex-machine!

Mostly C: LION - You're a rebel. No one can tell you what to do. Some people may describe you as aggressive but, in your defense, they probably had it coming. Congratulations, you're the regal lion, a true apex predator!

Mostly D: BEAR - Most of the time, you like to keep to yourself. But, when you find the right people, there's nothing you won't do for them. Congratulations, you're the mighty bear, ruler of the forest!

Mostly E: GOAT - You're a little tough to get to know. Your natural bluntness sometimes rubs people the wrong way. No matter how weird or rough around the edges people say you are, you have to stay true to yourself. Congratulations, you're the daring goat, master of the mountains!

Mostly F: MAYBE TRY THE SCALY CONVENTIONS - You're a bit of an outsider, and that's okay! You just have to find people who are like you. People who understand you. And your sexual attraction to fish.

AN OBJECTIVE REVIEW ON NICHOLAS CAGE'S NEW NETFLIX SERIES: HISTORY OF SWEAR WORDS (2021)

Miss Ann Thrope
Toike Mixed Media Critic

The other day, I opened YouTube on my laptop expecting to be greeted by the usual recommendations of LofiChillHop and Study Girl. Instead, up popped a two minute clip from the 2007 blockbuster that everyone loves to hate: Ghost Rider. It's easy to get lost in the memes and forget what a versatile actor Nicholas Cage is and the diverse career he has had. Of course, as tragic as it is, he has become a meme to an entire generation.

"Why?" I ask.

"Why what?" You say.

The truth is, Nick Cage became a meme not just because of his face (though that is quality meme material as well), but because after a while his movies started to suck. It became transparent that he was pulling a Michael Bay™: in it only for the money.

Later, as I was browsing Netflix I noticed that one of the top ten trending new shows was a Netflix Original Series starring Nicholas Cage. History of Swear Words is a short episodic docu-series chronicling what its title suggests. Was it lame? Not too much. Were the cutaways to our host, Nick Cage himself, corny and intrusive, happening at the most inopportune of times? Overwhelmingly so.

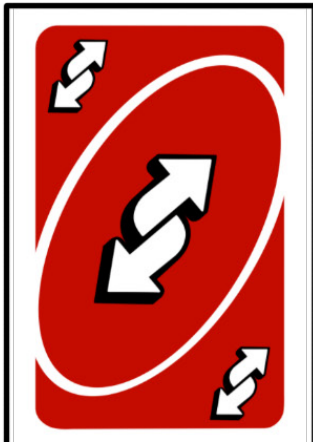

The ensemble of comedians and academics was one of the show's highlights, with the diverse troupe of women comedians basically stealing the show. One could say that Nicholas Cage was not a necessary addition to the docuseries, that his intro and interlude scenes were objectively kind of stupid as he sits there sipping a glass tumbler half full of hard liquor like he should be on the front of some sort of bottle, and that he was probably only there ironically as his name still evidently garners public attention and helps him out finance-wise.

But, the exposure that big names like his brings to up-and-coming actors and comedians is valuable, and I hope that this docuseries accomplishes at least that, even if that means suffering through the generic corniness of Nicholas Cage's current acting prowess.

MARKET WATCH: $FRRY NEXT SQUEEZE?

DeepFurryValue
Toike Reddit Investor

BREAKING: Recent market movements in the entertainment sector have led r/furry to launch their very own IPO in an attempt to bait large funds into another short squeeze. A spokes-bull stated only that “they plan on closing all the stores they are yet to open” and that “they’re in the market for a used Model S with decent mileage and an attached battering ram.” When pressed for further comment, the spokes-bull only asked for Elon Musk’s address.

In unrelated news, $MSFT is trading at a 52-week high on the back of “Kinectimals,” a 2010 release which has gained unparalleled popularity for seemingly no reason. A press release detailing a VR re-release is expected to come in the following weeks, with an M-rated announcement soon after.

SKULE™ MEANING REVEALED?? SECRET PLOT IN PLACE?

True Blue
Toike Historian

Hi all, and welcome back to Conspiracy Korner: your monthly source for theories that have, with 100% certainty, been put into words. This week we’re taking a dive into the name of Skule™ itself—you may think it’s a simple engineer joke, but the truth behind it goes so deep, you’ll be saying “yowch! That sure is a deep one.” by the time we’re done.

They say three things are certain in life. One is death, and two is taxes. Three is a business student’s IQ. When early UofT Engineers realized this, they sought to apply one of the business student’s own teachings against them—they would create a market and then develop the technology to fill it themselves. When the Society for the Konversion of Useless Law+Business Education (SKULE) was first founded, this mission took the form of a colouring book manufacturer, creating innovative pieces with up to 10 different colours per piece (15 was attempted, but deemed too difficult for the target audience). Over time, the market grew saturated and Skule™ needed a new target audience... enter the furry.

As the peak culmination of technology, design, and culture, the furry was the obvious candidate for Skule™’s next campaign.

The first step of this new regime was to develop all aspects of a proper fursuit, which meant new branches within Skule™. Civil was created to ensure structural stability, Computer for proper AI function, Electrical to wire it, Industrial to produce it, Materials to make it soft, Mechanical to make it move, Mineral to ensure composition, and Chemical for uh... fluid management.

The conversion of business students to furies began with the creation of Rotman, a portmanteau suggesting its true purpose. So-called “students” were indoctrinated over the course of 4 years to the point of furry-ism, leaving a void market for Skule to fill. As time went on, expansion of the program led to the placement of persuasive candidates in the upper echelons of businesses around the world, spreading the reach of Skule and ensuring a market for future furies. Soon enough, we had placed members at nearly every post-secondary institution in the country (see Waterloo’s Mascot).

Unfortunately, recent years have seen a slight dip in sales and an expansion was deemed necessary. Following this, Skule founded EngSci (to target the nerds) as well as Ryerson (high school students).

WHY WINNIE THE POOH IS THE BEST FURSONA

Penny Iglet
Toike (Hundred Acre) Wood Enthusiast

Okay, I’ve got something really important to say so I’m gonna skip the lengthy preamble and get right into it. Winnie the Pooh is by far the best fursona in the world. I’ve given this a lot of thought and I’ve come to this important realization logically. Firstly, Winnie the Pooh is literally always read for a quickie. He lets it all hang loose and I respect that. Don’t we all dream of dancing through life wearing naught but a shirt? It can’t only be me, right?

I'M NOT LIKE OTHER GIRLS, I'M A HORSE GIRL

Catherine the Great
Toike Empress of All Russia

Hey boys, I’m not like other girls. I’m a horse girl. But I’m not like other horse girls either. Other girls wear high heels and dresses. I wear sneakers and jeans, unless I’m with my horse, in which case I wear nothing at all.

Other girls ride bikes. I ride horses.

Other girls hunt for sales in the mall. I hunt ineffective rulers for the good of my country.

Secondly, Winnie comes with built in imagery that gets the motor going. How many times have you seen Winnie “stuck in a hole”? I don’t know about you, but the thought of Winnie having Piglet or Tigger come pull him off - I mean out - gives me serious, “what are you doing step-brother?” porno vibes.

Thus concludes this article. If you have a problem with the arguments or imagery brought up, you can go fuck a beehive, preferably with a grizzly bear very nearby, you prude.

Other girls start drama with their friends to get clout. I start wars with entire countries to expand the Russian Empire.

Other girls have sex with men, women and/or gender nonconforming individuals. I have sex with horses.

POINT / COUNTERPOINT

A Germophobe

A Hungry Boi

SPIT

SWALLOW

Alright, this is gonna be the most one-sided PCP in the history of this fine publication. Nobody swallows because swallowing is gross and unsanitary. Besides, this is usually happening right before bed and who wants to do that to their stomach right before bed?

I see your point but...it’s just so tasty. Once it gets in my mouth, sometimes I just have trouble forcing myself to spit it out.

Are you insane?!?! Your dentist must seriously hate you.

Are you kidding? Why would my dentist hate me?

Are YOU kidding? You know how bad it is to swallow toothpaste?

I...I didn’t know we were talking about toothpaste.

Virgin Sex Columnist

Editor’s note:
Unfortunately, the Virgin Sex Columnist was unable to write a column this month as he was unaware of the existence of furries and has spent the last three weeks straight...um...researching. We wish him well and hope he’s hydrating.

For your monthly dose of depraved dalliance descriptions and delightful debauchery, please see LITERALLY ANY OTHER ARTICLE IN THIS ISSUE.

TOIKEOSCOPES

ARIES

Say what you will about Ares, at least he didn't go around fucking mortal women as animals like his dad. If you don't support this Toike conquer your enemies in righteous battle (in Ares' name, of course)

TAURUS

If you are going to choose a Fursona, you might as well choose a bull or goat or something. Cuz, you know the horns could be used as...um...well, dildos.

GEMINI

It's been scientifically proven that, if you suck on some she-wolf titties, you'll establish the most impressive civilization in the history of the world. So... do that. Furries for the win!

CANCER

Yeah, we get it, you're disgusted by this issue. Well, we're disgusted by the fact that you probably have crabs, you crustacean.

LEO

You should write a fan fic where Aslan and the White Witch were Furry lovers but then he turned into an actual lion and she decided she didn't want to fuck an actual animal. Please. I need this.

VIRGO

For the love of God, stop reading this Toike. PRESERVE YOUR INNOCENCE! DON'T JOIN ME IN MY CURSED EXISTENCE!

LIBRA

Are people who are sexually attracted to people dressed as turkeys still Furries? Or are they Featheries or something? Either way, you should fuck a turkey this month. (Yes, this is here because Robart's Library is a turkey. Fight me!)

SCORPIO

Maybe Cruella de Vil's fursona was a dalmatian and she was just trying to make a realistic fursuit. And you were kink shaming her. Jerk. (Killing dogs still isn't cool, Cruella)

SAGITTARIUS

If you think I'm not going to talk about horse-fucking this month because that would be too obvious for Furry Toike then you haven't been paying attention you bronzy mare-fucker.

CAPRICORN

It's Capricorn season, bitches. (Is it? I have no idea.) That means it's time to get your goat fursona on.

AQUARIUS

"The Shape of Water" won four Oscars! FOUR! So don't let anyone tell you that your Furry fan fictions won't get you anywhere in life. Sorry, scaly fan fictions.

PISCES

That "Shape of Water" one should have probably gone here, huh? So, um, I guess you just have to live through the month to see what it's like.

POINT / COUNTERPOINT

The Satire Satyr

THE ANCIENT GREEKS WERE THE FIRST FURRIES

It is an indisputable fact that the first furries were the Ancient Greeks. They literally worshipped beings who transformed themselves into animals to have sex with mortals and sire obscure gods and demigods. Ever heard of Europa? Banged Zeus after he turned into a bull. How about Ganymede? Had her legs spread by eagle-Zeus. Okay, it was mostly Zeus but the point still stands.

First off, great work on the word play there! I mean, Cretan cretin? That's topical as fuck and it stung like a jellyfish dipped in lemon juice.

Oh yeah. I mean, I really feel bad about myself.

No problem. You earned it. But you're way off about the Greeks. Just 'cuz their fursonas had a higher production value doesn't mean they weren't true furries. Besides, did the Egyptian Gods even get any?

Exactly, you sexually repressed furry wannabe. So step the fuck off.

Anubis, God of Dog Fursonas

HAVE YOU SEEN HIEROGLYPHS

Pfft. Have you SEEN any hieroglyphs lately? Ever see Anubis? Now that's a beef-cake dog fursona I can get behind. Or put behind me if you know what I mean. If this was purely about which Ancient culture was fonder of bestiality, the Greeks would have it hands down. But furries don't fuck the actual animals, you bigoted Cretan cretin.

Really?

Wow. Thanks for saying that. It means a lot.

...not to my knowledge.
